Redmond Central Connector

City policies for the Connector...

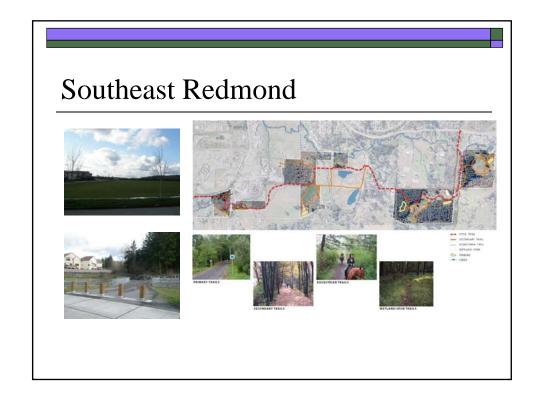

- Creating a destination
- Enhancing economic vitality
- Gathering place for community
- Integrating iconic and interactive art

Southeast Redmond

- □ The Southeast Neighborhood Park is scheduled in our current six-year Capital Investment Program in 2017-2018. As development occurs, more land could be added to the park. Possible interim use could occur with neighborhood support and neighborhood grant funding.
- There are three miles of proposed trails to be developed in Southeast Redmond. Some of the trails will be completed by developers as properties are developed and some the City will build.
- Arthur Johnson Park will connect to Martin Park via an underpass of Union Hill Road, which will be the regional Bear-Evans Creek Trail. Arthur Johnson Park is envisioned to be a retreat for the community with an emphasis on the native plants of Washington (highlighting rhododendrons) and the property's natural features and animal habitat.
